The Universidade NOVA de Lisboa, through the NOVA Medical School (Faculdade de Ciências Médicas) offers the 5th International Master in Mental Health Policy and Services (MHPS).

The Master receives technical contribution from:
- World Health Organization (Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse)
- The International Diploma in Mental Health Law and Human Rights, Pune, India

SCOPE AND OBJECTIVES

The International Master in Mental Health Policy and Services is addressed to health professionals willing to develop public health skills in the area of mental health.

The Master aims to provide general training in areas related to:
- Formulation, implementation and evaluation of mental health policies, plans and programmes.
- Organization and evaluation of mental health care and related services.
- Formulation and implementation of Mental Health Service research.
- Mental Health Law and Human Rights.
SOME FACTS
- More than 300 million people suffer from mental disorders.
- Mental disorders are much more common among the poor and they, in turn, increase poverty.
- Refugees or displaced persons suffer from a broad range of mental disorders.
- Rates of mental disorder tend to double after emergencies.
- People exposed to major economic transitions are at risk for demoralization, alcohol, substance use and suicide.
- Around 20% of the world's children and adolescents are estimated to have mental disorders or problems, with similar types of disorders being reported across cultures.
- Depression is ranked as the leading cause of disability worldwide.
- About 800,000 people commit suicide every year.
- Mental disorders are among the risk factors for communicable and non-communicable diseases, and endanger their course and outcome.
- Mental and behavioural factors and disorders are important for adherence to treatment of HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis, malaria and other diseases.

MORAL ISSUE
- Stigma about mental disorders and discrimination against affected persons and their families prevent people from seeking mental health care.
- Human rights violations of psychiatric patients are routinely reported in most countries.
- Few countries have a legal framework that adequately protects the rights of people with mental disorders.

DRAMATIC GAP
- In spite of the availability of cost-effective treatment for most of those disorders a huge gap still exists between implementation and needs worldwide.
- WHO - Atlas figures show that the majority of low and middle income countries have less than one psychiatrist and one psychiatric nurse per 100,000 population.
- The majority of low and lower middle countries allocates less than 1% of their health budget to mental health.
- The treatment gap is shocking and in some countries may reach 85% untreated cases.

NO HEALTH WITHOUT MENTAL HEALTH
- Different criteria can be used to decide what health problem is, or should be, regarded as a public health priority but there is compelling evidence for prioritizing mental health.
- It is therefore vital that innovative mental health Policies and Legislation be designed and become a harmonic part of health systems.
- Plans and Programs should lead to effective and human care and service delivery.

CURRICULUM
The Master (MHPS) provides knowledge and skills for participants in the following areas:

1. Basic elements of Public Mental Health including Mental Health of the Populations and Epidemiology of Mental Disorders;
2. Basic elements of Research Methods and Statistics;
3. Principles of Mental Health Policy and Plans formulation;

TESTIMONIALS

ITALY · Michele De Francesco, Psychiatrist
For me it was an important experience, a chance to professional and human compare, with so many stories to hear, the chance to represent to me country as diverse and far away and that perhaps, unfortunately, I will not have the opportunity to visit.

BANGLADESH
Noor Giasuddin, Psychiatrist
From the time I submitted application for the course, the university authority took a one to one approach to assist me in the process. The atmosphere from the airport to hostel and classes has an excellent tone of novelty and homeliness. The beauty of the city, its easy transportation, the view of the Tagus river all are wonderful. Throughout the time from acceptance of application to end of the 1st residential session the university authority left no stone unturned to assist us in academic and extracurricular activities. I feel every student will enjoy the course to the optimum.

MOZAMBIQUE
Palmira Santos, Clinical Psychologist
Given that mental health has been left to the background in many countries, especially in developing countries, a Master that has among its objectives to expand the horizons in order to improve the quality of services and preserving the human rights of people with mental disorder and the integration of mental health in primary care, is undoubtedly a big achievement. The creation of an international class with professionals from different latitudes and environments, allows an unique workshop, which, along with the remarkable faculty that guides the course, will certainly result in added value in students professional and personal lives.

LEBANON · Rabih El Chammay, Psychiatrist
The International Master in Mental Health Policy and Services was exactly what I needed. The variety of topics covered, the calibre of the faculty members, and the flexibility of the design as to being mainly an elearning process is a very successful mix. This program is just what I feel is needed for me in order to be able to learn how address stigma related to mental disorders, promoting mental health, integrating mental health into primary health care services, designing and conducting research with limited resources, abiding by ethical guidelines, in developing countries, with the ultimate goal of using this research to lobby for the needed changes in laws and policies.
